

2013 ACEC/PAC Annual Report

Thank you!

Because of you and your commitment to ACEC's advocacy program, ACEC/PAC is pleased to report another very good year.

- We collected $770,436 from over 2,300 contributors – breaking the 2012 record of $732,000 from 2,200 contributors.
- 33 state Member Organizations met their respective PAC goals.
- Over 170 key Congressional incumbents and challengers were supported with nearly $465,000 in disbursements.
- ACEC/PAC hosted 77 Congressional events in DC and in the states.
- The PAC held special fundraising events including a Washington Nationals game and a golf tournament at TPC Scottsdale (both of which sold out).
- We also held the first Wake Up with ACEC/PAC special thank you breakfast for our most generous supporters.

This success could not be realized without you, your enthusiasm, your dedication and your contribution. Thank you for your tremendous commitment to ACEC/PAC; and we look forward to your continued support on behalf of our industry.

Each state is assigned a fundraising goal based on membership strength and the strategic goal of $1 million raised annually by 2015. PAC Champions, appointed by their state, lead the charge towards meeting this goal. States approach this goal in a variety of ways, through special events, sweepstakes and peer-to-peer fundraising.

"Capitol Hill is just a metro ride away for many of our members, but we still need to remind them that best way to improve the business climate for engineering firms is to improve the political climate in Washington, D.C. We continually stress that ACEC/PAC is looking out for our interests at the federal level."

Looking Ahead to 2014

Thanks to your generous support ACEC/PAC ended 2013 with another record breaking fundraising year — setting all-time marks for money raised, total PAC contributors, and congressional events hosted/supported. That's a good thing because the 2014 congressional mid-term elections are just 7 months away, and the congressional primary season is already in high gear. At the same time, congressional elections continue to get more expensive: in the 2012 U.S. House and Senate elections, candidates spent a combined $1.148 billion. Just as noteworthy, congressional candidates are spending more of their funds to fend off primary challenges, with 62 percent of all spending now taking place before Labor Day. That means in order to help the men and women we want to elect to Congress, we have to raise more ACEC/PAC funds — and raise them earlier in the cycle.

In addition to the congressional mid-terms in November, ACEC/PAC also plans to be involved in several special elections this year including two House seats in Florida and a Senate seat in Oklahoma. Your support makes these electoral opportunities possible.

Throw in the ambitious legislative agenda planned for the final session of the 113th Congress (with transportation and infrastructure issues front and center in the debate), and it's easy to understand why your early participation in our political program is so vital. Help us continue the momentum your previous contributions have generated. Your ongoing support of ACEC/PAC has never been more important and you can be sure we will be leveraging every single ACEC/PAC dollar to elect a Congress that will be more responsive and attuned to the concerns of America's engineering firms.
